

---

The latest news, insights, and announcements

INSIDE

The report offers a comprehensive analysis of how private entities and public across five European countries approach and integrate inclusive communication practices.

NICE Program Releases its Comparative Report on Neutral and Inclusive Communication in Corporate Environments

We're very happy to announce the publication of the comparative report by the NICE Program (Neutral and Inclusive Communication in Corporate Environments), co-funded by the Citizens, Equality, Rights, and Value (CERV) program of the European Union. This report encompasses insights from Romania, Cyprus, Greece, Lithuania, and Bulgaria, and it's now available for free download on the NICE website.

 What's inside? The report offers a comprehensive analysis of how private entities and public across five European countries approach and integrate inclusive communication practices.

 How we did it: Through rigorous comparative analysis, policy evaluation, surveys, interviews, and the identification of best practices, this report captures the significance of neutral and inclusive communication in corporate environments.

 The initiators of the NICE project are Diversity Charter Cyprus, Diversity Charter Greece, Lithuanian Diversity Charter, Bulgarian Diversity Charter, and Carta Diversitatii din Romania. We have joined forces in a regional collaborative effort to foster neutral and inclusive communication in corporate environments.

 Learning Outcomes. The NICE Program will bring about multiple learning outcomes for signatory organizations, including the development of knowledge, skills, and attitudes, enhanced self-awareness, improved organizational cultures, and the refinement of skills for working with diverse groups.

 Diversity Training Sessions. To further enhance skills and awareness, we are preparing a series of diversity training sessions for 2024. These sessions will empower our signatories, equipping them to effectively implement concrete diversity and inclusion (D&I) practices. Stay tuned!

 Download the report for free and join us in spreading the word!